

Prayer.

Eternal Father, who didst all create, in whom we live and to whose bosom we move,
To all men be Thy name known, which is Love.
Till its loud praises sound at Heaven's high gate,
Perfect Thy kingdom in our passing state,
That here on earth Thou ownest theirs above,
Whose joy we echo and in pain await.

Grant body and soul each day their daily bread;
And should in spite of grace fresh woes begin
Even as our anger soon is past and dead
Be Thy remembrance mortal of our sin;
By Thee in paths of peace Thy sheep be led.
And in the vale of terror comforted.

—Dr. Robert Bridges.

With the present heated discussion taking place all over the country over the proposed plan to teach the Bible in the public schools, the following opinions contained in a remarkable document which was found in Westminster Abbey whose author is unknown but whose dying request was that it be published for the good it may do, may open a new avenue of thought for some whose ideas are somewhat confused on the subject. Space does not permit the publishing of the beautiful letter that accompanied the document, which tells of the battle royal of the writers life; how after he was on the brink of despair, and downfall and how the sweet balm of the Gospel comforted him giving him fresh strength and trust, and the power to always be the master over temptation.

"Feeling this now and heretofore I desire to repeat of the Bible, that if a nation would be truly happy if it were governed by no other laws than those of this book."

It is so complete a system that nothing can be added to it or taken from it.

It contains everything needful to be known or done;

It affords a copy for a king and a rule for a subject;

It gives instruction and counsel to a senate, authority and direction to a magistrate;

It cautions a witness, requires an impartial verdict of a jury, and furnishes a judge with his sentence;

It sets the husband as lord of the household, and the wife as mistress of the table—tells him how to rule, how to manage;

It entails power to parents, and teaches obedience to children;

It prescribes and limits the sway of sovereigns, the rule of the ruler, and the authority of the master; commands the subjects to honor and the servants to obey, and promises the blessing and protection of the Almighty to all that walks by its rules;

It gives directions for weddings and burials;

It promises food and raiment, and limits the use of both;

It teaches a man how to set his house in order, and how to make his will; It appoints a dowry for his wife and entails the right of the first born, and shows how the younger branches shall be left;

It defends the right of all and rewards vengeance to every defaulter, over-reacher and oppressor;

It is the first book, the best book and the oldest book in the world;

It contains the choicest matter, gives the best instruction, affords the greatest pleasure and satisfaction that ever were enjoyed; it contains the best laws and the most profound mysteries that ever were penned; brings the best of tidings and affords the best of comforts to the inquiring and disconsolate;

It exhibits life and immortality through everlasting and shows the way to glory;

It is a brief recital of all that is past and a certain prediction of all that is to come;

It settles all matters in debate, resolves all doubts and casts the mind and conscience of all their scruples and certifies the only living and true God and shows the way to Him and affords all solace and comfort to the soul;

It describes the vanity of them and all that trust in such; in short, it is a book of laws to show right and wrong; a book of wisdom that condemns all folly and makes the foolish wise; a book of truth that detects all lies and confutes all errors, and a book of life that shows the way from everlasting death.

Some of the clubs in Amarillo whose membership includes a number of younger social set are putting the grownups to shame in the worthy aims of the organization. One this week that is praise deserving was the meeting of the M. S. T. club Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Letta Roberts, 1816 Polk street where an enjoyable program on the chapter lesson occupied the early hours. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were daintily served by the hostess's charming daughter, Mrs. Harry L. Kearns.

Wednesday evening Mrs. W. B. Patterson left over the Fort Worth and Denver for Fort Worth in response to a message calling her to the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Brower, whose twin babies were lying dangerously ill. The twins, Harvey and Jewel, are ten months old and have enjoyed perfect health, the sudden spell having been caused by immature milk. A later message to the remaining relatives in Amarillo gave some hope for their recovery.

English Agriculture.

As Somersetshire is devoted chiefly to dairying, cattle raising and sheepherding the Somerset horned sheep, the Devon long wooled, and the hardy Exmoor breed are there found in perfection, as well as herds of nonpedigreed shorthorns for the production of the famous Cheddar cheese. Agriculture is extensively carried on in Gloucestershire and Wiltshire also, but one does not there find the variety of Somerset—London Mail.

Incendiary Rabbit.

A Walla Walla man is charged with endeavoring to annihilate a rabbit colony with the aid of a pint of kerosene and a lucifer match. A rabbit was soaked in the liquid and touched off with a match. Whereupon, with a beautiful understanding of the fitness of things, the blushing creature burrowed into the nearest haystack, while thousands of amused rabbits sat around and watched the fun. Rough on the Old Maids.

In a quiet English village there was recently held a celebration in the schoolroom at the dedication of a new fire engine. It was a giddy evening, with three speeches by local clergy, and a longwinded oration by a bald-headed politician. The gem of the evening was the following toast: "May she (the fire engine) be like the dear old maids of our village—always ready, but never waded!"

IF KIDNEYS ACT

BAD TAKE SALTS

SAYS BACKACHE IS SIGN YOU HAVE BEEN EATING TOO MUCH MEAT.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and sluggish. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's unnecessary waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sears, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water seads and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Kidneys are damaged by the nose mucus, so scratch up and clean it appears on with either cold lime juice provided by diapers and placed to the nostrils, or the application of thin artemisia leaves and leaves adjustment to the figure there is no lack of diuretics in the garden—especially of onions—these may embody these little rootlet in a poultice like this little cast shown here in a man-
